The parish belongs to the worldwide Orthodox Church, being part of the Exarchate of Parishes of the Russian Tradition in Western Europe, within the Ecumenical Patriarchate of Constantinople.

Our parish is twinned with the Parish of the Holy Trinity in Paris, France. www.crypte.fr

Our local members represent a diversity of languages and cultures including American, Australian, British, Bulgarian, Canadian, Cypriot, Dutch, Finnish, French, Georgian, German, Greek, Irish, Japanese, Lebanese, Lithuanian, New Zealand, Polish, Romanian, Russian, Serbian, South African and Ukrainian.

Members of all Christian and other faith communities are most welcome to attend our services and everyone is encouraged to bring and share light refreshments (finger food) after the Sunday Liturgy.

Further details about the services are also available from Joyce Roberson 020-7733 9787 or Alexis Skorobogatov 020-8641 5405.

Weekend services are normally held on the second and fourth Sunday and on the preceding Saturday of every month. All services are celebrated mainly in English, with some prayers in Church Slavonic and Greek.

There is normally an opportunity for people to make their confession after every evening service during Lent and Holy Week or before the Liturgy on Sundays and by arrangement at other times during the week.
